

Infinova Creates A&E Consultants' Website to Download Specifications and Drawings

MONMOUTH JUNCTION, NJ - December 14, 2009 - Infinova today announced that it has made A&E Consultants' jobs easier by providing a single location on its website that provides all the information they need to create and specify a video surveillance system. By going to the Infinova website at www.infinova.com and clicking "A&E Download" at the top of the page, A&E consultants and others can obtain A&E specifications as PDF's and MS Word documents, AutoCAD and Visio drawings, plus product photographs for all Infinova products.

"To help A&E consultants get easy and fast access to information about Infinova products, they can use this site to directly download information they need," emphasizes Mark S. Wilson, Infinova vice president, marketing. "As a result, they can complete detailed proposals more quickly and with more accuracy for their clients."

Consultants can download all models at once or individually. A quick link takes them to various product categories including fixed cameras, lenses and IR illuminators; IP network fixed cameras; camera housings and mounts; pan/tilts and receiver/drivers; fixed IP mini-domes; integrated PTZ camera; PTZ dome cameras; monitors and matrix switchers; keyboards and controllers; CCTV accessories and VOIP; software and DVRs, fiber optics; and fiber optics accessories.

To try out the new service, interested parties can go to www.infinova.com.
